Describe the specific educational goal(s) or state standards that this activity will help students attain. Many science standards for outdoor education, math, language, art, and physical education are achieved. Some of the skills include: journal keeping, studying macro and micro organisms in the pond, plant and animal diversity, stargazing, fibonacci patterns in nature, tree and wildlife identification, and bird adaptations and identification. In addition to academic skills, social skills of teamwork, community projects, and manners are also developed.

Describe how this activity will help attain school improvement goals.

Our school takes advantage of learning opportunities not just in our school but our community. This time we are utilizing the trails and cabins at Camp Tecumseh. We have shared our activities with the camp, and they have implemented some of our ideas. We have used some of theirs as well.

Describe why this activity cannot occur without interrupting the instructional day.

We need to travel to the camp. Once there, we actually put in more than a typical six hour day.
